	Workshop 2- Emerging Tech 101          In this next installment of Emerging Tech 101, explore the new wave of legal technology for contract, commercial, and relationship management. How do you assess the solutions on the market and define your company’s needs ? How do you calculate your ROI and build a successful business case? Find out the answers to these questions — and others — in this practical, hands-on workshop, and learn to leverage current legal tech. Workshop Leaders:  Paul Branch, COO &amp; CTO, World Commerce &amp; Contracting  Richa Kaul, Chief Strategy Officer, ContractPodAi  Jerry Levine, Chief Evangelist &amp; GC, ContractPodAi Partnered by ContractPodAi &gt; Session Room
	Workshop 3 - Contract Design &amp; Simplification          A clearer and simpler contract has countless benefits, but not everyone knows how to transform their lengthy and often confusing contracts into something concise and practical. In this workshop, our experts will guide you through the process of building a better, more simplified contract from the ground up in order to deliver better outcomes. The first part of the workshop will introduce the human-centered design process and key elements for a designerly approach, such as information architecture, visualization, and design patterns. It will also illustrate the benefits of contract design with practical examples. Workshop Leader:  Dr. Stefania Passera, Contract Design &amp; Visualization Consultant, WorldCC Designer in Residence Host:  Paula Doyle, VP &amp; Global Head of Research &amp; Analytics, World Commerce &amp; Contracting &gt; Session Room
	Workshop 4 - Business Ethics - Steering Clear of Social and Political Controversies: Survival Tips for Your Business and Career          Reputational risk has never been higher or more volatile. How can you and your business navigate loud and often competing demands of owners, managers, stakeholders, and regulators? How can you avoid or neutralize controversies that can destroy your business or career? This workshop covers the four key questions you need to answer, as well as the tools and rules for avoiding or escaping social and political crossfires. Workshop Leader:

	Robert Zafft, Author and Business Ethics Expert &gt; Session Room
	Workshop 5 - Beyond the Contract: Managing Capital Projects            Major capital projects have a history of escalating delays and cost overruns. It is clear that something is fundamentally wrong in the way projects are managed. So what needs to change? In this practical workshop our seasoned industry experts will examine and propose a different approach to project transparency and aligning disciplines. Learn Advanced Work Packaging methodology and guidance on how to manage capital projects virtually. Workshop Leaders:  Melanie Fontenot, Senior Technical Consultant, AVEVA  Dan H. 3:00pm-3:40pm BST 10:00am-10:40am ET	Keynote panel discussion: the challenge and reality of incomplete contracts - filling the gaps In 2016, Oliver Hart was awarded the Nobel Prize for Economics for his work on incomplete contracts. The importance of that work became starkly evident when the pandemic hit the world in 2020. Most contracts simply did not provide the terms or the framework to deal with such extreme uncertainty. The issues that the pandemic so cruelly exposed were not new. For years, practitioners and academics have been discussing the need for improved governance, for greater formality in the connection between 'the contract' and 'the relationship'. In 2019, Professor Hart had proposed 'a new type of contract', the formal relational contract, and he will introduce this keynote

	panel with an explanation of those ideas. But is the world ready for contracts that contain legally binding obligations to collaborate, to work with shared honesty, integrity and transparency? Are there better ways to achieve increased collaboration between buyers and suppliers? Our panel of leading practitioners will share their views, discuss alternatives and examine the practicality of ‘filling the gaps’ in our contracts. Chaired by: Prof. Tim Cummins, President, World Commerce &amp; Contracting Oliver Hart, Lewis P. and Linda L. The events of the past year have created a moral imperative in the hearts and minds of many, both on a professional and societal level. The moral imperative of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion resonates as strongly as the business imperative, if not more so. In this global WorldCC community where we see all trading relationships represented, it is as much about diversity of ideas, perspectives, styles of thinking, communicating and problem-solving, as it is the implicit diversity we each possess and the unique value we unlock when we embrace the whole of those differences. In this important and practical conversation, Yau will walk us through what creating a culture of diversity, equity and inclusion really means for both leaders and individuals. For those asking what's my role and how do I create meaningful change? This talk will be critical. Yau Cheng, Global Head of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, BNY Mellon Chaired by: Sally Guyer, Global CEO, World Commerce &amp; Contracting &gt; Main Stage
